

Integrative and Functional Medicine Approach to Gastroenterology

Seminar (GERD, IBS, SIBO, H.pylori, Celiac Disease)

November 11 - 12, 2017 - Houston, Texas

Dr. Wayne L. Sodano
DC, DABCI, DACBN, CFMP, CIHP, BCTN
Director of Medical Education CIM

Dr. Sodano has been in private practice since 1985 and taught post graduate programs since 2005. As a former instructor with the American Board of Chiropractic Internists, he currently dedicates his time to research and development in the areas of integrative and functional medicine and teaching distance learning and live post graduate programs nationwide through the College of Integrative Medicine.

Dr. Sodano is a graduate of Texas Chiropractic College and Rutgers University and completed postgraduate studies through Logan College, Towson University, and The Institute for Functional Medicine. He is an active member of the ACA Council on Nutrition, American Clinical Board of Nutrition, American Chiropractic Association, The Council on Diagnosis and Internal Disorders, and holds board certification in traditional naturopathy through the American Naturopathic Medical Certification Board.

Nathan Ranga, MD
Gastroenterologist

Dr. Ranga S. Nathan is a practicing Gastroenterologist in Humble, TX and is affiliated with Hermann Memorial Hospital. Dr. Nathan completed his residency at Baylor College of Medicine where he also served as Clinical Instructor of Medicine from 1986-1991 and currently as serves as Clinical Associate Professor. Dr. Nathan also specializes in internal medicine and sees great value in the functional and integrative medicine approach to the treatment of disease and disorder.

Guest Speaker

Dr. Russell M. Jaffe
BS, MD, PhD

Dr. Russell M. Jaffe, CEO and Chairman of PERQUE Integrative Health is one of the pioneers of integrative and regenerative medicine. Since inventing the world's first single step amplified (ELISA) procedure in 1984, a process for measuring and monitoring all delayed allergies, Dr. Jaffe has continually sought new ways to help speed the transition from our current healthcare system's symptom reactive model to a more functionally integrated, effective and compassionate system.

When

- Saturday November 11, 2017
(9:00 AM - 6:00 PM
CDT (Central Time))
- Sunday November 12, 2017
(8:00 AM - 5:00 PM
CDT (Central Time))

Where

- Sterling Country Club/Houston National Golf Club
16500 Houston National Boulevard - Houston, TX 77095

16 CEUs

- CEUs applied for through National University of Health Sciences for DCs.

Vendor Landing Page
& Registration Link

Attendee Landing Page
& Registration Link

BONUS

All Attendees Receive Three Months of iMedLogics™ free of charge ($267 value). If you aren't familiar with iMedLogics™, take a look at what this essential patient management tool can do for you and your practice.

CIM offers a money back guarantee if you are not satisfied at the conclusion of the lecture.

Contact

COLLEGE OF INTEGRATIVE MEDICINE™

- Catherine Sodano
877-841-7241
info@collegeofintegrativemedicine.org
www.CollegeofIntegrativeMedicine.org

www.CollegeofIntegrativeMedicine.org